

The 15 Best Luxury Resorts in the Caribbean for 2021

By Caribbean Journal Staff

In the Caribbean, luxury is different.

Of course, any great resort must excel in the fundamentals of luxury: food and drink; interior and exterior design and, most importantly, service.

But Caribbean luxury transcends that. In the Caribbean, luxury is also about beauty, about space; about the natural environment; about the sights, the aromas, about the art of experiencing the outdoors.

In other words, it's about all of the things that travelers prize most right now.

Compiling our annual ranking of the best luxury resorts is always a challenge; and this year, even more so.

But the properties that made this list combined exacting quality in the aforementioned technical areas (including, of course, health and safety protocols) with that most important criterion of all: how special a resort makes you feel.

Here are our favorite luxury resorts for 2021.

[...]

Le Barthelemy, St Barth There's no more competitive luxury hotel market in the Caribbean (and maybe the world) than St Barth, but the 44-room-and-suite Le Barthelemy has quietly been vaulting right to the top, with a jaw-dropping Grand Cul de Sac setting and fabulous rooms designed by Sybille de Margerie.